WASHINGTON POST AND TIMES HERALD
REPORTING ON CIA'S LOCATING AT LANGLEY

This reporting has been characterized by several factors inconsistent with the Post's high editorial standing:

1. An editorial position lacking in clarity (Attachment 1).
2. Prominent treatment of the views of an articulate minority, giving an inaccurate impression of strong local opposition by residents of the affected area (Attachment 2).
3. Minor inaccuracies, omissions and emphases, with a cumulatively misleading effect (Attachments 3, 4, 5 and 6).
